

University students need a more efficient way of tracking the buses because the current system could make students traverse inefficiently.